Swag Shouldn't Be Hard

Ordering branded merchandise sounds simple... until it isn't.

Different teams ordering different products. Logos used inconsistently. Budgets become unclear, and inventory is either sitting unused or unavailable when you need it most. What starts as a small task quickly turns into a fragmented, time-consuming process.

At Kevins Worldwide®, we've seen this firsthand—and we've built a better way. By turning swag into a structured, managed system, we help organizations eliminate the chaos and bring consistency, control, and simplicity back to branded merchandise.

What If Swag Worked Like a System?

Imagine one place where every employee, department, and location goes for branded merchandise—without confusion, without back-and-forth, without guesswork.

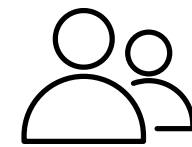

A system where:

- Only approved products are available
- Budgets are built in
- Orders follow your internal processes
- Inventory is tracked automatically

That's what a Company Swag Store is meant to be.

Your Swag Store, Built Around Your Company

Built Around Your Structure

Your store reflects how your company is organized—by department, role, or location—so ordering feels intuitive and aligned with your internal workflows.

Designed for Control

We incorporate budget parameters, approval flows, and product access rules to ensure every order stays compliant and on-brand without slowing your team down.

Customized to Your Brand

From curated product selections to the look and feel of the storefront, every detail is tailored to represent your brand consistently across all teams.

Types of Features We See Clients Ask For

Made to Order

No upfront inventory is required; items are produced and shipped only when ordered, allowing for low-risk, smaller product selections

Fulfillment

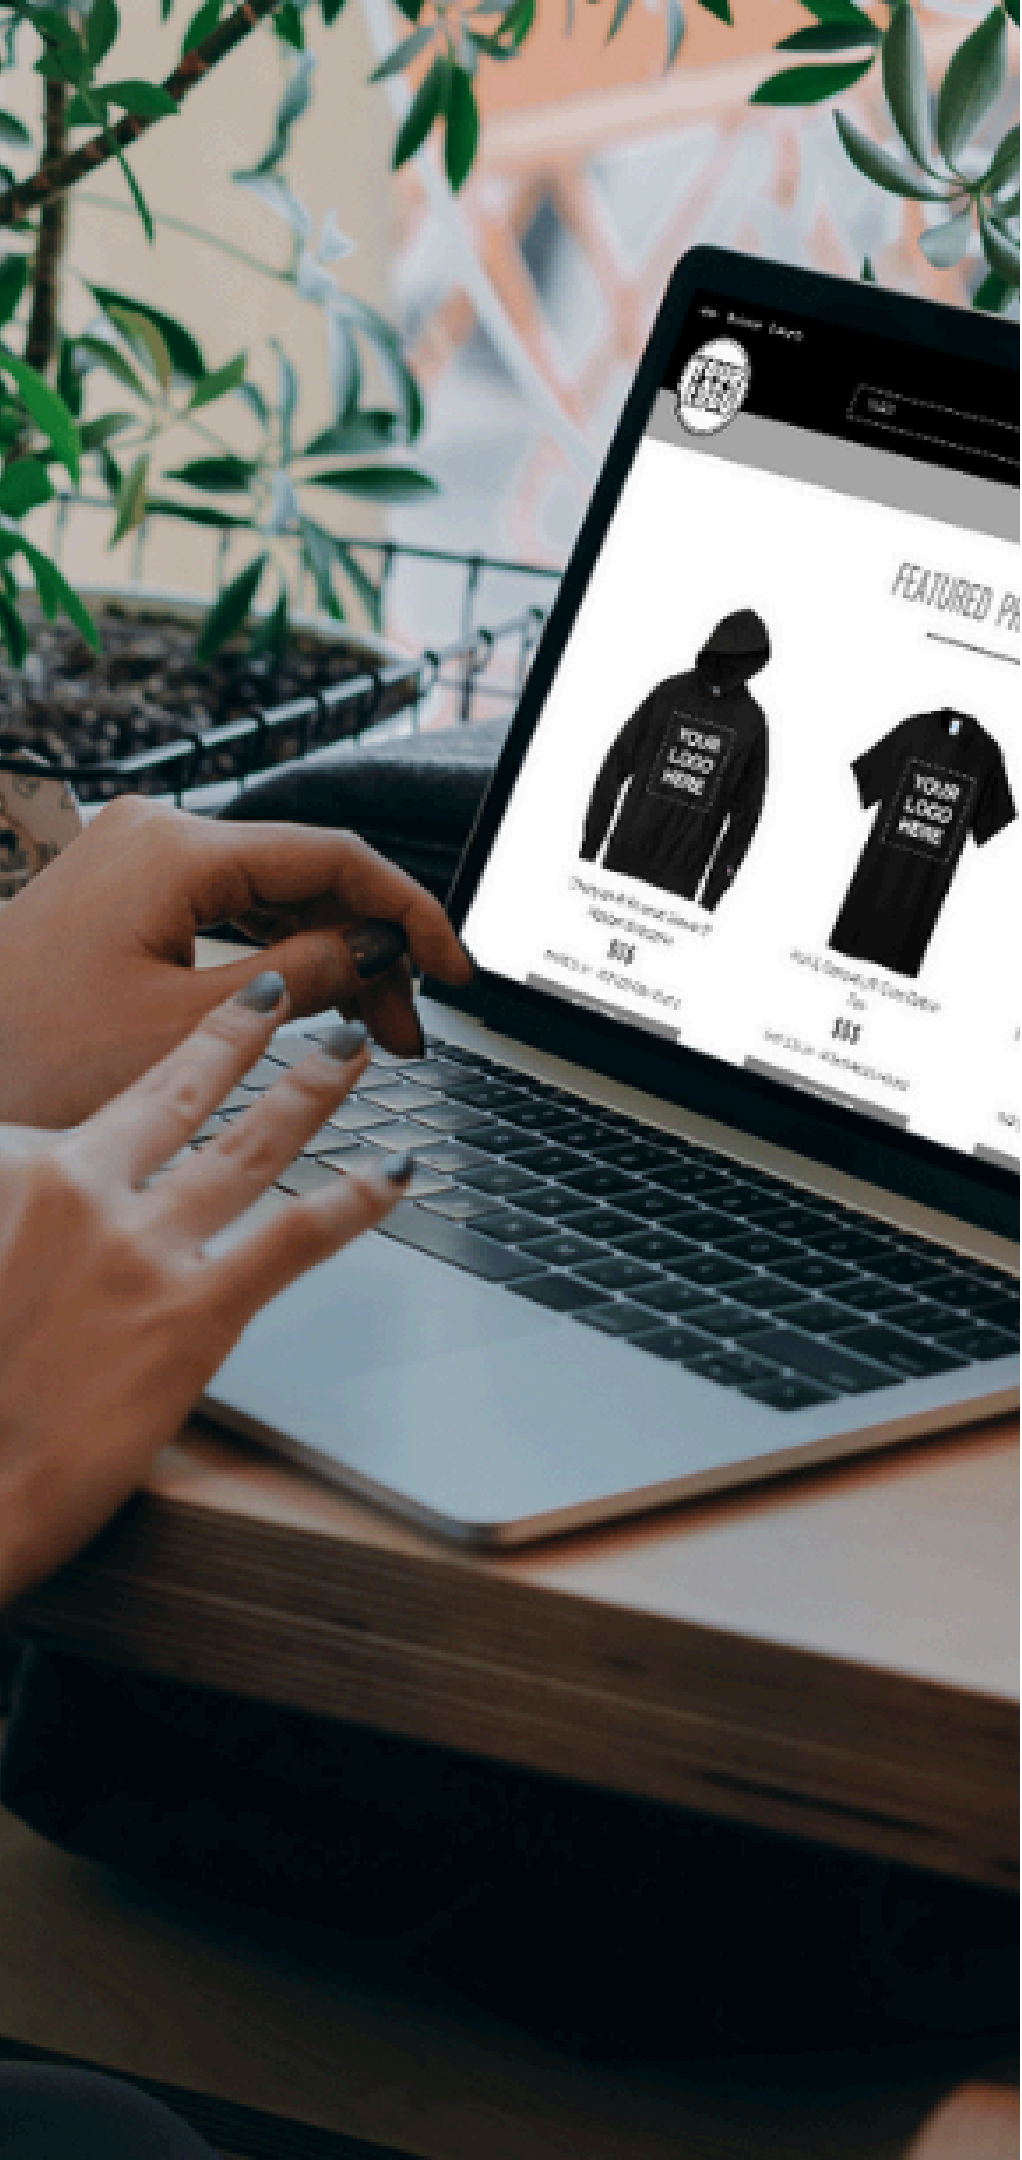

These store and ship large inventory, ideal for large organizations with regular demand for uniforms or onboarding

Redemption/Rewards

Dedicated to employee recognition, this model allows staff to choose their own gifts

A company swag store isn't just a place to hold products—it's built to support how your business actually runs. Whether you're onboarding new hires, recognizing employees, gearing up for events, or supporting your sales team, everything lives in one reliable place. No more last-minute scrambling—just a simple, repeatable system that keeps your brand consistent and your team ready to go.

Your Store - A Managed Program

A swag store without support is just another tool to manage. We handle the infrastructure behind it so your team doesn't have to.

Strategic Product Sourcing

We curate products that align with your brand, audience, and use cases—so every item feels intentional, not random.

In-House Decoration & Quality Control

With decoration handled internally, we ensure consistency, accuracy, and quality across every order.

Inventory & Warehousing

We manage inventory levels, storage, and replenishment—eliminating the need for your team to track or store products.

Fulfillment & Distribution

From individual shipments to large-scale rollouts, we handle pick, pack, and delivery so your products get where they need to go—on time and on brand.

Control Without Friction

A great swag program shouldn't force you to choose between ease of use and organizational control—but too often, it does. Our swag stores are designed to strike the right balance, giving employees a simple, intuitive ordering experience while providing leadership with the structure, visibility, and budget control needed to keep everything aligned—without adding friction to the process.
